Discharge Readiness Tip Sheet

Discharge Planning Process

- Discharge planning is not a onetime event. It includes collaboration with provider, member, family, integrated care partners, and supports
- Discharge planning should begin on the first day of treatment and continue to be an ongoing assessment
- Discharge plan should be written clearly and agreed by the member
- Titrating services, which is the continuous appraisal of current needs will also help identify when discharge is appropriate
- When all of the treatment goals and needs have been addressed, OR member has reached their baseline, it is time for discharge

Transition Planning Process

- Member has been engaged in titration of services, has shown improvement, and is meeting their goals and objectives
- Member has been compliant with treatment recommendations
- Member is no longer severely functionally impaired
- To prepare for transition, encourage the use of the skills learned in treatment;
    - Self-care reminders
    - Coping skills
    - Medication regiments
    - Utilizing support systems
- Recommend referrals to connect the member to natural supports after discharge
    - AA/NA
    - Senior Centers
    - Community Mentors
    - Healthcare specialists/Medication Management
    - Sports/hobby groups
    - Online supports (i.e. apps, online groups)
- Discharge plan and instructions on how to return for care if needed should be provided to member

Consider Family Readiness

- Refer family to parent education/training, if needed
- Equip the family with tools and steps to take if the need for treatment arises again
- Ensure family's inclusion on discharge planning
